By Frank W Very

Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Lunar and Terrestrial Albedoes Founded in 1906, the Westwood Astrophysical Observatory owes its inception to aid from Percival Lowell. In beginning a special series of its publications, the writer wishes to place on record his indebtedness to the warm sympathy and encouragement of a faithful friend. Himself an ardent lover of freedom, Dr. Lowell never interfered with the writer's free and independent ordering of the researches conducted at Westwood, but with a rare disinterestedness he placed at his disposal numerous spectrograms taken at the Lowell Observatory by the skilful hands of Dr. V. M. Slipher for measurement with apparatus of the writer's design. Nevertheless, the gain was mutual, for the results throw unexpected light on some of Lowell's own researches and demonstrate that complete independence in respect to control and motives of action is not incompatible with a consistent working together for a common end. Lowell had been greatly interested in the research which forms the subject of the present communication, with its obvious bearing on the problem of planetary temperature. In his...
